Supreme Court Hands Down Opinion In Lanai Case

LEAVES MATTER FOR U.S. SUPREME COURT

In the Supreme Court this morning a written opinion, signed by Justices Frear and Hartwell, was handed down in the matter of the Lanai case. The opinion, which is written by Chief Justice Frear, side-steps any action in the matter, though it tells what might and what might not be done. There are a number of interesting features to be found in it, however.

The tremendous roasting which the Attorney General's Department was subjected to at the hands of the Supreme Court is very mildly spoken of in the following clause: "The Court expressed surprise: 'The meat of the opinion is that the case is left for action by the United States Supreme Court in case an appeal or a writ of error is allowed, and that if the decision should be set aside or modified, the decision of the Court could be enforced, notwithstanding the consummation of the exchange.'

A decision having been filed on the 1st instant reversing the decree of the circuit judge appealed from, sustaining the demurrer to the bill, and dismissing the bill, but without in terms dissolving the injunction which had been granted by the Circuit Judge restraining the respondent Pratt from exchanging certain public lands for private lands, the complainant moved the court on the 13th instant to enter a decree in a form which followed the decision and also provided that the injunction should continue in force until further order of the court for the purpose of permitting an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. The Attorney General, on behalf of the respondent Pratt, filed an objection to granting the motion, on the ground that the complainant desired the decree merely for the purposes of appeal and that no appeal lies for the reasons that the record does not disclose that the amount involved exclusive of costs exceeds the value of $5000 and that no federal question is involved. He also stated orally that upon the rendition of the decision, on the 1st instant, the exchange had been made on his advice, but that he did not object to a continuance of the injunction on that account and that his only objection to the entry of the decree was that it was only for the purposes of appeal and that no appeal lies. The court expressed surprise that the Attorney General had advised the completion of the exchange before the entry of the decree and stated that the question of the continuance of the injunction for the purposes of appeal, whether by the Court or the Justice allowing the appeal, was one upon which he need not be heard as matter of right, and that, although he might be permitted to be heard as a matter of discretion, the Court did not care to hear him under the circumstances, particularly in view of the fact that he, the natural one, as the successful party, to prepare and present a form of decree, had chosen not to do so, but on the contrary to rely entirely upon the decision and had taken the position that no decree should or need be entered and had acted accordingly in advising the completion of the exchange before the entry of the decree, which, in the opinion of the Court, was im-

GAMBLERS FINED

A group of Chinese gamblers, eleven in all, came before Judge Whitney this morning. Nine of them pleaded guilty and two not guilty. Joe Leal, the arresting officer, testified that he had seen all the defendants playing pai-kau. One of the Chinese, who was not among the defendants, on the approach of the officers, jumped out of the window and has since been missing. The height of the window from the ground, Joe Leal said, was twenty feet. Judge Whitney fined those who pleaded guilty $9 and costs of court. The other two were fined $10 and costs.

The pictures which were given by Howard Hitchcock for prizes in the Arbor Day contests in the schools, are to be placed on exhibition in a room set aside for this purpose by the Board of Education.

More Europeans For Home Building In Hawaii

The Board of Immigration yesterday authorized Collector Stackable to charter another vessel for immigrants to leave Europe between the first and fifteenth of April.

The immigrants will be from Malaga, Spain, and Madeira, and the guarantee of the charter is for 1250 fares.

This is the third shipload of immigrants for which the Board has arranged and indicates that the representatives of the Board have established excellent connections for obtaining settlers from the sections mentioned.

LIGHTKEEPER OF BARBER'S POINT DIES SUDDENLY

William Hutton, who has faithfully tended the Barber's Point light since it was erected, died suddenly at 10 o'clock last night, soon after he had retired for the night.

The special cause of death is not known. Hutton was probably seventy years of age and apparently in good health. He was in town yesterday to see one of his new grand children. His wife and a nephew were with him at the time of his death.

Hutton was born in Lahaina. He has been a whaler and captain of inter-island ships. His service as lightkeeper proved him to be a man thoroughly worthy of trust, and his advancing age did not check his ambitions to do better. He successfully passed the first examinations for appointment by the Federal government when it took over the lighthouses and later took another examination which enabled him to secure a raise of salary.

COMMITTEE FAVORS KUHIO'S SUGGESTION

APPLICATIONS FOR JOBS PASSED UP TO CAUCUS

The Republican County Committee Submits Conflicting Reports on the Municipal Bill

Much important business was taken up at the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican Central Committee yesterday afternoon, the Delegate's suggestion that an appropriation be guaranteed by the Legislature to cover the expenses of the trip of twenty-five Congressmen and their wives to Hawaii, the applications of the multitude who sought the endorsement of the committee for positions in connection with the Legislature, and the reports of the County Committee on the Municipal Bill being all considered.

The Executive Committee decided to endorse the suggestion of the Delegate, which was brought before it by Senator John Lane. The matter has thus become a party measure, and there can be no doubt but that one of the first things to be done after the legislative session opens will be the passing of a concurrent resolution whereby both Houses agree to pass the necessary appropriation. It will be done in this form in order to save the time which the three readings of a regular bill would require, and as an answer has to arrive at Washington by Feb. 25.

The committee also considered the large bunch of applications for endorsements, but did not select any particular ones from them for recommendations. It merely passed on the applicants in regard to their standing in the party, passing the selection of the individual applicants for office up to the caucus of Republican members of the Legislature, which will take place next Monday.

All the applications were passed along in this manner, with the exception of that of Col. Knox, a colored gentleman of uncertain political faith, who applies to be janitor of the Senate, which position he held in 1905. In this case action was deferred.

The committee did, however, pass on the more important matter of the leadership of the two Houses. It endorsed E. Faxon Bishop for President of the Senate and H. L. Holstein for Speaker of the House. The endorsement was unanimous.
